Forecast for Friday 30 Apr 2021

Weather: A cloudy start with light rain and overcast skies across the region. Through the morning it will become more widely drier and brighter though showers will start to break out from mid-morning onwards to leave another rather cold day with sunny spells and showers, these falling as snow above 700m. Showers may also contain hail at times with a low risk of thunder. Becoming dry, clear and cold during the evening.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: Less than 20% becoming 70% by mid-morning.

Visibility: Poor first thing with low cloud and hill fog, cloud bases lift to 700-1000m and break up by mid-morning allowing mostly very good visibilities, though they will deteriorate as cloud covers hill tops and in and around showers.

Meteorologist's View

It will be a murky start on the hills in low cloud, for the rest of the day things improve but during cloudier periods it will feel quite cold, particularly if you get caught in a shower and on hill tops exposed to the north easterly breeze.
